Landlords and tenants 'owed thousands' after lettings agency goes into liquidation

LANDLORDS and tenants have been left out in the cold after a homes letting agency went into liquidation.

The Rent Team, in West Gate, pulled down the shutters last week, with angry clients accusing owner Sanjit Alangh of leaving them thousands of pounds out of pocket.

Landlords have claimed to have collectively lost more than £200,000 in unpaid rent, while tenants allege the firm has failed to reimburse their deposits, some of which appear not to have been paid into the Deposit Protection Service as required by law.

Landlord Zil Shah, who used The Rent Team to manage his three properties in Harlow, said: "Initially they were very late in paying the rent owed to me so I had to really chase them for the money.

"There were always lots of little problems like not getting back to me when I'd called and making excuses for why payments were late. It was just a lack of service.

"I've spoken to a few landlords who have all had issues and lost a large amount of money.

"My tenants have lost their deposits as Sanjit apparently did not save them with the DPS and I have lost about a month's rent from each home. I will be helping my tenants by returning their deposits but obviously that puts me in a hard situation. By my calculations, I have lost around £4,000 to £5,000."

Mr Shah's experience is not unique. John Rush, a landlord who used the agency to manage his property after he moved to Brighton, told the Star: "The first tenants did not have a problem as their deposit was stored correctly because I checked and we were paid the rent on time. When she moved out, however, there were issues with the property which Sanjit said he would fix. But it was never done to a satisfactory standard and maintenance work was never completed.

"From about October, payments started to go awry and some were up to three months late. We confronted The Rent Team about this because we clocked onto what was going on. We've ended up with one month's rent unpaid and our tenants' deposit which wasn't stored properly. We're about £2,100 out of pocket.

"Sanjit did not communicate properly with us and our tenant about rent and any property maintenance needed. We were lucky to take over managing the property when we did."

Another landlord, who wished to remain anonymous, spoke of his frustration after his reports to the police and Trading Standards were "ignored and dismissed".

He said: "I have spoken to every landlord and tenant connected with The Rent Team and people are owed about £200,000 collectively.

"I was a landlord and I reported my suspicions and all the information I had from my own experiences and of others to the police back in March. It was always pushed to one side until I eventually got an email saying it was a civil matter. As far as I'm concerned, this should be a criminal investigation."

A spokeswoman from Essex Police said: "Police have been made aware of a number of incidents and are currently investigating allegations of fraud."

The Star made contact with Mr Alangh, but he did not provide a comment by the time the newspaper went to press.

Liquidators Harris Lipman said they had received information regarding The Rent Team but could not provide a statement until meeting with creditors.

Dog attack victim's trip to Westminster

A HARLOW teenager left with an horrific injury after being attacked by a dog has met with Justice Secretary Chris Grayling as local MP Robert Halfon stepped up his campaign for tougher sentences for owners of dangerous dogs.

Brandon Elston (14) was left with a severed artery and a 5cm flesh wound after being bitten by the black Labrador on March 14.

But even though a court has since ordered the dog's destruction, police have not yet been able to trace the animal - leading Brandon's parents to brand the sentence "a joke".

On Monday the teenager - who has been left scarred for life following the attack - travelled to Westminster accompanied by his family and Mr Halfon.

They met with Justice Secretary Mr Grayling, who has now pledged to raise the issue with Home Secretary Theresa May and see if the law could be changed to help Brandon.

Brandon's mum, Sharon Elston, said: "It was a very productive meeting, and Mr Grayling seemed to take on board what we were saying.

"He has promised us he will look into where the law could be changed to stop something like this from happening again."

Man faces trial for gun offence

A MAN arrested after armed police were scrambled to a Harlow neighbourhood on Tuesday following a gun alert will go on trial next month at Chelmsford Crown Court.

Polish-born Tomasz Witzczak (36), who gave his address as homeless charity Streets to Homes in Wych Elm, was remanded in custody by Chelmsford Magistrates yesterday (Wednesday) pending a hearing on July 9.

No plea was indicated and no application for bail was made.

Witzczak was charged with possession of an imitation firearm - a gas-powered handgun - at The Hides, Harlow, contrary to Section 19 of the Firearms Act.

Prosecutor Angela Hughes outlined the allegations, telling magistrates a police helicopter was also deployed during the incident on Tuesday morning.

Appearing in the dock wearing a black T-shirt with a teddy bear embossed on the front and dark trousers, Witzczak - who spoke through an interpreter to provide his personal details - was placed in handcuffs as he was removed to the cells.

Harlow Strong to march as planned

HARLOW Strong organiser Leo Hartley plans to press ahead with Sunday's (June 23) march - despite mounting opposition from community groups who fear the event will attract right-wing extremists.

The rally, which was originally set up under the banner of the controversial Woolwich Strong movement, is described as a "peaceful t-shirt charity march" by Mr Hartley.

But critics, including the Harlow branch of Unite Against Fascism (UAF) and local trade unionists, fear the event is a front for far-right political group the English Defence League and have urged organisers to call it off.

"I was very disappointed to read about plans for an 'alternative peaceful march' which painted Harlow Strong as not being peaceful," Mr Hartley said.

"I have always said, and con-

BIANCA CASTRO

tinue to say, that this march is a peaceful one and has no political affiliations.

"I have been very open about why I am doing this: it's to make a stand against extremism - there is no political agenda."

His stance appeared to be backed by the EDL this week after the far-right group dismissed claims they were linked with the event.

Regional organiser for the Essex EDL Mark Dunbar told the Star: "As far as we're concerned, this march has no direct affiliation with the EDL."

"We have already held our own tributes to Lee Rigby elsewhere in Essex and will have no direct involvement with Sunday's march in Harlow."

"However, we love our soldiers, and if our members wish to attend and pay tribute, there is nothing to stop them from doing so."

Although a counter-march planned for the day before Harlow Strong supporters take to the streets has now been cancelled following the resignation of organiser David Forman from his post as secretary of the Harlow Trades Council, Harlow UAF members still plan to make their own stand against the march on Sunday afternoon by hosting a "multicultural festival" on Broad Walk.

"We're having lots of different foods from all over the world as well as anti-racism speakers and music," a UAF spokesman confirmed.

"Our concerns are still there with regards to Harlow Strong but we feel this will be a good way of countering this."

Harlow Strong will be meeting outside the Civic Centre at 11.30am before marching to the Netteswell War Memorial.

COMMUNITYNEWSGreen-fingered volunteers give boost to area

VOLUNTEERS from Moorfield Residents' Association have 'adopted' areas close to their homes in a bid to give the surrounding environment some much-needed TLC.

For the past five weeks, volunteers have cleaned and dug up unsightly landscaped beds and planters.

The association has purchased small items of gardening equipment which the group hopes to extend further through funding and support from Harlow Council.

Vice Chair of MRA Derek Coles told the Star: "Much of what has been achieved has been in conjunction with Harlow Council and its landscaping and diversity department along with Kier landscaping who have helped the association in helping themselves smarten up Moorfield."

The MRA will be holding their 13th annual general meeting tomorrow evening at St James School in Paringdon Road at 7.30pm.

The meeting will discuss the group's future plans and guests will include Harlow MP Robert Halfon and county councillors Karen Clempner and Tony Durcan.

"We hope the AGM is well-attended," Derek added. "It's important that we get people involved for MRA's future."

Golfers chip in for Macmillan

A HARLOW roofing company is inviting golfing fans to a themed event in aid of Macmillan Cancer Support.

Paul Miller, owner of Superior Roofing and Building Services, is hosting the charity PRO AM day on Wednesday (June 26) at Manor of Groves Golf Club at High Wych and is hoping to beat the success of last year where £2,000 was raised for the charity.

A host of golf professionals as well as local golfers are expected to attend. Tickets are £240 per team of three with a PGA playing within the four-ball team. The ticket price includes tea and coffee, a round of golf, and dinner.

For more information, call Ben or James on (01279) 603543.

New dementia groups launched

TWO new activity groups for dementia sufferers have been launched by the Alzheimer's Society in Harlow.

Keeping Active, Together - the first of the two groups - aims to offer people physical activities to help improve dementia symptoms, which will take place every Wednesday.

The second group, Active Minds, will focus on mind and memory activities and will take place every Friday morning.

Support Services Manager, Marion Howell, said: "There are over 800 people living in Harlow with a form of dementia, with the right support people can live well with the condition for years."

The groups, which were launched this week, will take place at St Andrew's Church Hall in The Stow from 10am to 12.30pm and sessions cost £6.

Demand for Harlow Foodbank growingBIANCA CASTRO

bianca.castro@hertsexsexnews.co.uk

A HARLOW charity set up to provide emergency food packages to families and individuals in crisis is seeking new volunteers as local demand for its services continues to grow.

An astonishing 7,683 people have needed the help of Harlow Foodbank since its launch in 2009 - an average of 157 people per month.

But director of services Gary Knott warned that demand is set to grow this year in the wake of the Government's Welfare Reforms - and said the charity would only be able to cope if new volunteers and donors offered to help out.

"The demand for our work has been steadily growing year-on-year and this year we have really seen an increase in people in crisis who are being referred to us because they need our help," Gary said.

"It's only going to get worse as more people are affected by these benefit changes - we use about three tons of food a month and that number will go up.

"We have a lot to thank our volunteers for as well as everyone from Harlow and the surrounding areas who donate food to us. We couldn't do it without them or without the help of Lok'n'Store who are a collection point as well as giving us space to store the food we have."

All donations are carefully processed and weighed by Foodbank volunteers before being stored according to food type and sell-by date to minimise waste.

When orders then come in from the Foodbank's satellite stores and charities, nutritionally-balanced food packages are made up for individuals or families, packed with enough food for three days.

A menu is even included with each package to help recipients get the most balanced, filling meals out of the food supplied.

Warehouse Co-ordinator Katherine Akyeampong-Aye said: "We couldn't do this without our wonderful volunteers. The demand is growing due to the economic climate but we are still getting a steady stream of donations which is very touching."

Gary added: "We are always looking for volunteers and are now looking for storage space from local businesses who can help the Foodbank carry out its work. We desperately need a bigger storage and processing area."

To offer your services as a volunteer, call (01279) 724515.

Hospice volunteers given Royal welcome at palace garden party

ST Clare Hospice was given the Royal seal of approval after two of its long-serving volunteers attended a Garden Party at Buckingham Palace.

Jan Final, of Kingsland, Harlow, and Betty Newton, from Saffron Walden, were chosen by the Hastingswood-based Hospice to attend the party in recognition of their service to the charity.

Widow Jan, who gives her time to the voluntary services section at St Clare, has been a volunteer since her husband Eric passed away 14 years ago, while Betty, an Inpatient Unit volunteer, has helped out since 2006.

"Volunteering at St Clare has given me friends and a life after Eric," Jan said. "Working here I met a lady in the same position as me, widowed, and we went away together for the dreaded first New Year's Eve.

"We've been friends ever since and still go on holiday together."

Jan and Betty were picked up from the Hospice by a chauffeured car provided by local funeral director Daniel Robinson & Sons before being driven to the capital.

Voluntary services manager Chris Crump said: "Every year we are lucky to receive two tickets to the Royal Garden Party and we're delighted that Jan and Betty represented us this year.

"They deserved to have a smashing day as they, like all our volunteers, give so much to us and we're very grateful."

Drug dealer locked up for 15 months

A MAN has been jailed for 15 months for two counts of possession of cannabis with intent to supply after police caught him with the drug.

Daniel Howes (23), of Greenhills, Harlow, pleaded guilty at Chelmsford Crown Court to two counts of possession of a class B drug with intent to supply.

The court heard Howes had been stopped by police officers on two separate occasions and found with cannabis.

Speaking after the hearing, investigating officer PC Lee Taylor said: "This conviction should serve as a weighty reminder to anyone in Harlow intent on supplying cannabis that we will catch up with you, and you could be spending a considerable amount of time behind bars."

PAH memorial to remember babies

PRINCESS Alexandra Hospital's annual service of love & remembrance for babies who died during pregnancy or around the time of their birth takes place this weekend.

Maternity Bereavement Advisor Andrea Brewis said: "It is a very moving service and very emotional. Everyone is invited if they want to remember a baby, no matter how long ago they passed away.

"The service is for those of faith and those with no faith and family and friends can be as involved in the service as they wish."

The remembrance service will be held at Church Langley Community Centre on Sunday (June 23), and attendees are asked to meet at 2.30pm for a 3pm start.

Jobs on the way as new Poundland depot is approved

HUNDREDS of new jobs could be on the horizon after plans to build a sprawling new regional distribution centre for budget shopping chain Poundland were approved by councillors.

Proposals for the depot - which will be built on a 20-acre site comprising the former offices of Pitney Bowes and GlaxoSmithKline in Pinnacles - were green-lit by members of Harlow Council's development management committee last Wednesday (June 12).

The centre will become the retailer's main UK distribution hub upon its completion and is likely to create up to 650 new jobs.

The firm has already pledged to work with local partners and Harlow Council to introduce local jobseekers to employment opportunities prior to its opening, which is expected by the middle of next year.

The plans were met with overwhelming public approval at a consultation event earlier this year, and according to the council, the scheme's approval will provide a welcome boost to the local economy, which has been left reeling by the impending closure of Tesco's fresh food depot in Flex Meadow and the associated loss of up to 800 jobs.

Councillor Tony Durcan, cabinet portfolio holder for resources and enterprise, told the Star: "The council recognises the local jobs created by this proposed development and the benefits of bringing this underused site back into full use within an established employment area.

CHRIS MOSS

chris.moss@hertsessexnews.co.uk

"The development also demonstrates that major companies continue to see Harlow as a place to invest in and that the Council is committed to growth.

"The application is subject to conditions and a Legal Agreement and the council will be looking to resolve this as soon as it can so the development can get underway and bring new jobs to the area."

But Harlow Civic Society, the organisation tasked with preserving and protecting the town's heritage, were less enthusiastic about the plans.

The group raised several objections to the project at last Wednesday's meeting, expressing concerns over the sheer size of the proposed building and its potential impact on the landscape and local road network.

Speaking to the Star this week, group vice-chair John Curry said: "Although we of course welcome the news of jobs being created by this project, we are nevertheless genuinely concerned about the scale of the building Poundland want to erect.

"It is in the wrong place, and the impact it will have on an already overloaded road network in the Pinnacles area will be huge.

"Although I've never been a huge fan of the appearance of the newer part of the Pitney Bowes building, this will certainly not be an improvement - it's going to look like a giant aircraft hangar and is so big it will dwarf its neighbours."

"I took this shot of a parent robin and two of its four three-day-old chicks in a nesting box near the bridleway in Church Langley," he writes. "After all the miserable weather and cold days we have suffered over the last few weeks, I thought that it is a reminder of how much beauty there is around if only we open our eyes and look for it! And, of course, having a camera handy just adds to the experience."

If you have a photo taken in Harlow you would like to feature in our Photo of the Week section, email a high resolution copy in JPEG format, along with a description of your photo and details of when and where it was taken, to star@hertssexnews.co.uk. SIR, We are deeply concerned about the march being organised by a group named Harlow Strong this Sunday.

Harlow Strong is a branch of the Woolwich Strong movement which is planning co-ordinated demonstrations around the country on that day. Woolwich Strong claims to be non-political but in reality it is a movement riddled with EDL supporters.

Harlow Strong says it is not against Muslims but against extremists and terrorists. This is, however, the same language used by the EDL before it visited its own violence and terror on multi-racial communities in Stoke and elsewhere.

Organisations like the EDL and the British National Party are trying to use the horrific murder of Lee Rigby for their own political ends, to whip up racism and direct hatred against Muslims. Muslims have been attacked and a London Islamic centre has been burned to the ground by racists who want to see Muslims victimised and a race war on our streets.

The leader of Wigan Strong has now withdrawn because she has realised it is a front for EDL supporters. In this context the Harlow Strong demonstration is, at best, irresponsible.

We must reject those who want to divide our communities and set them against each other, and stand fast to the ideals of anti-racism, multiculturalism and respect for all.

Jim Rogers, Isobel Urghart, Michael Szpakowski, Mimosa Moitoski, Mick Patrick, Paul Topley, David Brown, Rashed Saliu, Zaheer Ahmed, Ajaib Hussain, Ryan Murphy, Zak Cochrane, Lia Chanysh, Tracey Brown, Maureen Topley, Patricia Attridge and Dean McInosh

I am saying.

I have struggled to get into a car for appointments, to walk my dog, to get out of the bath, get my socks on, get upstairs and sleep comfortably. I am currently waiting for an MRI scan to establish the physical damage as the clinic doctor said I might have dislocated my knee cap.

Why are our roads and footways in such a state? Surely the toll on our health and cost to the NHS are significant? In my postcode there is a higher than average amount of elderly and disabled people so this is even more worrying that the roads and pathways are so hazardous.

A perilous patchwork is not the answer because they mostly need completely ripping up and redoing.

Why must refuse truck stop in the middle of the road?

SIR, Can Harlow Council please answer why our refuse truck has to stop in the middle of the street while the men go and collect the bins?

I have never written a letter to the paper but after someone wrote to complain about the service (Letters, June 6) there were others singing its praises.

I have nothing against the service they provide but why do they insist on stopping the truck in the middle of the road and going off and collecting the bins? Even when a queue of traffic forms behind they carry on collecting all the bins before the truck is moved.

I live in a one-way system so I cannot turn around and go out the other way! I have to sit behind and wait when a couple of feet in front of where the truck has stopped they could easily have pulled over and let the traffic get past.

Being stuck behind it twice now made my daughter late for school.

Constant traffic noise will upset care home residents

SIR, Along with many other people in Harlow I am deeply concerned about the effect the proposed West Sumners development will have on our town.

Sitting in the very quiet area off Phelps Road is Barns Court, the site of a home for the elderly. The staff there helped to nurse my mother so I called in many times and I am alarmed to find that, should the development go ahead, it will no longer be the peaceful place that people need at that time of their lives.

Phelps Road would become the main thoroughfare between Parsloe Road and the other side of Sumners and cause the residents much unhappiness with the constant flow of traffic right outside their door!

Surely when this site was chosen for them such a situation was not what those who care for them had in mind!

Irony of protestors calling for Kier Harlow to be blacklisted

SIR, You ran a story on your website about a protest implying Kier Harlow operated an employee blacklist based on the unsubstantiated claims of one person who allegedly failed to find employment on a London Underground construction site.

Kier Harlow is jointly owned by Kier Services Ltd and Harlow Council to operate a repairs and maintenance and street scene service – in Harlow. Nothing underhand or underground there.

Indeed, on the day after the protest it was announced that Kier Harlow was awarded Chartered Building Consultancy status by the Chartered Institute of Building. It verifies that organisations which have achieved this status, such as Kier Harlow, are run by professionally qualified managers who adhere to the CIOB's globally-recognised standards of best practice in management, integrity, competency and professionalism.

There are three major underground construction projects in London at the moment - Crossrail, Thameslink and upgrading the existing lines. I am sure many people apply each day to work on these projects, not all of whom will be successful.

Without the merest hint of irony, the protestors call on Harlow Council to blacklist such employers. A case of kettle and pot?

Still waiting for council to repair this footpath hazard

SIR, I want to thank the caring people who stopped in cars who helped me when I tripped in a pothole in the footway at Old Road, including two police officers who got me onto my feet.

It is reassuring that people notice what is happening around them. It is a pity that the Essex County Council are not equally conscientious.

The path defect has been there for years and was reported before when my son tripped before Christmas when it was concealed by ice and leaves. This dip in the driveway entrance to Mulberry Hall is about 2ft x 1ft across and three inches deep.

I reported this again to ECC and this week, coincidentally, highway maintenance appeared in my road and filled a lot of recesses. I phoned ECC immediately about the one in Old Road and asked why not fill it at the same time? The hole, however, has not been touched?

Maybe the residents of Old Road who came to my aid will report the hole to endorse what

Thanks to driver who stopped

SIR, I would like to say thank you to the lady driver in the silver car who helped me when I fell off my bike in Edingburgh Way on Sunday, June 2.

She stopped her car and blocked the road so that no traffic could pass and stayed there until I was safely on the path.

I would also like to take this opportunity to apologise for my bad language; it was really scary and I didn't think she had seen me in the road at first. I am very grateful for her help.

FOOD FOR THOUGHT: Louise Willett with one of the platters she will serve up to contestants next week

Can you stomach restaurant's food challenge?

FOOD enthusiasts are being set a challenge by the new owners of the Maypole in London Road as the eatery hosts its very first Man vs Food-style competition.

Husband and wife team Louise and Michael Willett will be hosting the food challenge next Friday (June 28) in a bid to get more customers through the doors for a taste of the restaurant's home-made food.

Louise said: "We will have three challenges next Friday and all the food will be home-made plates of delicious food. "Our first challenge is a monster burger, the second a spicy chicken wings platter and the final one a huge platter [pictured above] which is normally for four people."

The competition will start at 6pm and cash prizes are on offer for the winners of each food task.

Louise added: "We thought it would be a great way to get new customers in, everyone is welcome to enter or come down and join the BBQ after the event.

"We have great home-made food and this is a great, fun way to show it off."

If you want to take part, call 07796 695229 by Wednesday, June 26.

Three arrested in immigration raids

THREE men have been arrested by Immigration Enforcement officers following raids at takeaways in Harlow and Sawbridgeworth.

On Friday (June 14), officers acting on intelligence swooped on Fancy Fry in Market House, Harlow.

As they entered the premises a man tried to escape through the back door of the building, where he was caught by officers covering the exits.

Checks subsequently revealed the man was a 25-year-old Egyptian who had entered the UK illegally.

Officers conducted a search for the man's passport at his home in Little Brays. It was recovered despite an attempt to hide it in a neighbour's back garden.

CHRIS MOSS

chris.moss@hertsessexnews.co.uk

The man is currently in immigration detention pending his removal from the country.

Officers next visited Riverside Pizza & Kebabs in Station Road, Sawbridgeworth, where checks revealed that two Bangladeshi staff were working illegally.

One, aged 21, was working in breach of his student visa. He is being detained while work to remove him from the UK is carried out.

The other, aged 40, had overstayed on his visa. He was released on immigration bail while outstanding matters relating to his case are dealt with.

Both businesses now face fines of up to £10,000 for each of the illegal workers unless they can demonstrate that appropriate pre-employment checks were carried out.

Richard Fisk, from Home Office Immigration Enforcement, told the Star: "We are working hard to track down and remove from the country those who seek to abuse the UK's immigration laws. Operations like this are carried out regularly and we have no intention of slowing down."

"The public can be a huge help in our work and I urge people with information about suspected immigration abuse to get in touch."

Anyone with information about immigration crime can contact Crimestoppers on 0800 555 111 anonymously or visit www.crimestoppers-uk.org.

Trio facing crown court trial over car-jacking

THREE men arrested after an alleged car-jacking in Harlow will go on trial at Chelmsford Crown Court on August 12. The incident happened in Priory Avenue on April 7, when a female driver claims to have been dragged from her car by a gang of men.

She alleges the men then stole her mobile phone before driving off in the vehicle.

Craig Lynn (25) and Jamie Hunt (20) - both formerly of the Oasis Hotel on Hart Road - deny robbery and a burglary involving the theft of a laptop at the Oasis Hotel. Both were remanded in custody.

The third suspect, Terry Fryatt (25), formerly of the Oasis Hotel but now living in Stanstead Abbots, denied burglary and was remanded on bail for trial.

Students can apply for career funding

HARLOW students are being urged to apply for funding to help them pursue their dream careers.

NOSTALGIA

Plenty of choice for sports enthusiasts

Ski fans did not have to travel very far to practise their skills during the 1970s when the town had its very own dry ski slope.

This picture, taken from George Taylor's wonderful book, The Archive Photographs Series: Harlow, shows St Nicholas pupils on the ski slope near the town centre in 1977 as part of a school trip.

The ski slope was part of a sports centre opened in the west of the town park in 1960. The centre included an athletic arena and stadium and was extended throughout the 1960s and 70s to provide various outdoor and indoor facilities.

As well as the dry ski slope, the town also boasted a skating rink, golf course and Olympic-sized swimming pool.

St Nicholas students were not the only ones to enjoy the slope, with members of the Ski Club of Great Britain and the Disabled Ski Club also using the facility on a regular basis.

Harlow's artificial ski slope was dismantled in 2005 to make way for new housing on Fifth Avenue.

Do you remember the ski slope in the 1970's or recognise yourself in the photo? If so, contact Nostalgia on (01279) 400577 or email star@hertsessexnews.co.uk.

Typhoid outbreak still fresh in victims' minds

BIANCA CASTRO

bianca.castro@hertsessexnews.co.uk

THE Harlow typhoid outbreak of 1963 caused national headlines after almost 20 people contracted the potentially fatal disease - and Nostalgia's recent article on the 50th anniversary of the incident certainly stirred up memories for readers who contracted the condition.

Star reader Andrew Miller (65), of Toddbrook, was working at Rudgewick's butchers in The Stow, where the outbreak was eventually traced back to a batch of contaminated South American corned beef.

"I was 15 at the time and it was my very first job," he recalled.

"I left school in 1963 and wanted to be a chef but the next best thing was to work in the butcher's shop.

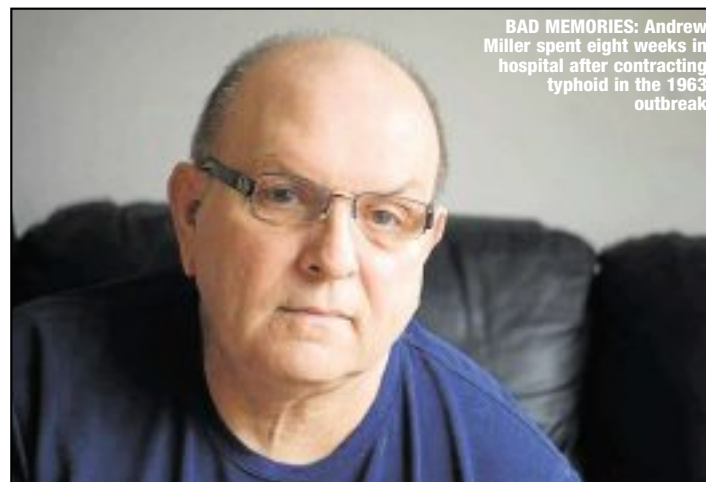

"I got sick with typhoid and spent eight weeks in a little room in hospital. I was confined to this small room because I had the disease and I was not allowed to touch anyone."

Mr Miller, a retired builder, added: "I had to learn to walk again after eight weeks of being confined to a bed and I lost a lot of weight, I had been 11 stone and went down to 7 stone.

"I went back to work when I was feeling better but I left after a couple of weeks. I remember I was paid £4, one shilling and three pence.

"It was the first and only time I've been seriously ill, thankfully, but after I left the butcher's I went into the building industry and that was it."

Jill Cootes of Potter Street was also one of the unlucky residents to contract the disease. She said: "I was only three-years-old when I became ill with typhoid. Two of my sisters and my dad

BAD MEMORIES: Andrew Miller spent eight weeks in hospital after contracting typhoid in the 1963 outbreak were also ill but I was the worst and spent the longest in hospital.

"I was in the hospital for around eight weeks and was eventually transferred to a London hospital by a police escort.

"I do remember quite a bit of that time - considering I was only three, that just shows how traumatic it was."

Another Harlow resident who remembers the typhoid outbreak well is Ann Moss of Collins Meadow, who wrote into Nostalgia with her recollections.

She said: "At the time I was living in Northbrooks and we had a regular milk delivery by a milkman called Charlie who worked for Hitchman's Dairies and lived in The Stow.

"In those days milkman usually had a young lad to help them on a Saturday and my friend's son Gary used to help him. One weekend Charlie had some corned beef sandwiches made from corned beef purchased from Rudgewicks in The Stow and he shared them with Gary.

"Unfortunately it was the contaminated batch and they both contracted typhoid. Gary's mother kept a very clean house and luckily no other person in the family contracted it but I remember he was taken to an isolation hospital - St Anne's near Romford."

'Sonic boom' quashes big bang theories

A LOUD bang which sparked a deluge of calls to emergency services across Essex was a 'sonic boom' caused by an RAF jet breaking the sound barrier, the Ministry of Defence has confirmed.

Mystified residents reported hearing the deafening noise at around 11.40am on Sunday.

It caused buildings to shake and even smashed windows, prompting calls to police and fire brigades in Essex, Hertfordshire and Cambridgeshire.

According to the MoD, the Typhoon jet was launched from RAF Coningsby in Lincolnshire when communication was lost with a Heathrow-bound passenger plane travelling from the USA.

Air traffic controllers had become concerned, but communication was soon re-established with the aircraft.

There were no problems on board and it landed safely.

The Typhoon went supersonic over Barkway, near Royston, at an altitude of 41,000ft (12,496m).

On the ground, startled residents ran out of their homes, concerned that the noise was the result of anything from a bomb explosion to a vehicle crashing into their home - or even an earthquake.

There were reports of doors being slammed shut, windows being blown

out, houses shaking and the ground moving.

After the sonic boom, residents took to Twitter, Facebook and the Star's website to speculate on its cause - with claims the noise had been caused by a bomb going off at KFC in The Stow among the wildest rumours spreading on social networking sites.

On Twitter, reader Wez D said: "Seriously thought it was a bomb."

"Me, my wife and son were on a hire boat on the River Lee when the bang literally shook the boat!"

Fellow Harlow resident Craig Messenger tweeted: "I was upstairs and thought something had fallen down."

"My wife thought the conservatory roof was going to collapse on her it shook so much."

The phenomenon is caused when an aircraft approaches the speed of sound [768mph].

Air pressure building up at the nose of the plane is then forced to escape, which creates a loud thunderclap that travels over huge distances in the wake of the supersonic jet.

SCHOOLNEWS

www.harlowstar.co.uk/Education

Promising start for a new academy

KINGSMOOR ACADEMY After a very difficult two years for the Ployters Road school – in which it was closed and reopened as an academy due to poor performance – things are now looking up.

The primary school's most recent Ofsted inspection in May found that Kingsmoor was improving well, with inspector David Jones marking the school up for its "reasonable progress in raising standards for pupils".

Chair of Governors at Kingsmoor Academy, Sarah Stapleton, said: "We, as Governors, are very pleased with the Ofsted report.

"We would like to thank all the staff for their commitment to the school and to the Academy Transformation Trust for their support in moving the school towards outstanding."

The school closed in November 2012 following continued poor performance. It reopened as Kingsmoor Academy in December of the same year.

The recent inspection was carried out to monitor the school's ongoing performance due to its past difficulties.

Interim Principal, Pat Hunt, said: "Although I have only recently taken up the post of Principal, I soon realised that Kingsmoor Academy is a very special school.

"I am so proud of the staff and pupils and I'm really pleased Ofsted recognised how far the school has moved towards becoming a good school."

Schools, colleges, universities, Ofsted reports, blogs and more

www.harlowstar.co.uk/Education

All aboard primary school's walking bus

FAWBERT & BARNARD'S Students and staff from the Old Harlow school took to the streets to raise awareness of road safety outside schools and encourage more parents to walk their children to school.

They formed a 'Walking Bus', marching from London Road through the Old Harlow shopping area and back via Chippingfield before returning to their classrooms.

School bursar Christine Baxter said: "The whole school took part which was great and we had our local PCSOs supporting us and helping everyone cross roads safely.

"As a school we are really keen to tackle speed limits outside schools and to get more people walking or at least parking a little way from the school to clear the front and keep it safe.

"The social aspect of walking to school is also important. A lot of games and chat is now done by sitting at a computer screen and although our children play and talk within school, that time when they can chatter away while walking is really good for them."

Pre-school birthday goes swimmingly

LITTLE FISHES PRE-SCHOOL A birthday celebration with a difference was held at St Mary's Church when Little Fishes turned 21-years-old and welcomed back the families whose children had attended the pre-school since its launch in 1992.

Jane Bilson, part of the Little Fishes management team, said: "The day went really well and we had about 60 people including original members of the committee and quite a lot of previous staff members. We even had some children from Little Fishes early days and I actually think that Matthew (pictured) is one of the original pre-schoolers.

"We contacted previous committee and staff members as well as local schools to see if we could get hold of as many people as possible who have been involved with Little Fishes as children, staff or volunteers."

Little Fishes was started by members of the church's congregation and was originally held two mornings a week. It quickly grew and now can accommodate up to 26 children, five mornings a week.

Jane added: "It is an achievement I think considering we only ran two mornings a week and now seem to be very popular. We always have a long waiting list of children and we run lots of different activities for the children.

"During our 21st celebration we had arts and crafts set up for our current Little Fishes and we had home-made cookies and cream and scones for everyone to enjoy. It was great."

Life-saver award for quick-thinking Claire

A QUICK-THINKING student midwife on placement at Princess Alexandra Hospital has picked up a prestigious award from the British Journal of Midwifery after saving her neighbour's life.

Claire French (39), who is studying for a BSc (Hons) in Midwifery at Anglia Ruskin University, was awarded the runner-up prize in the category of Student Midwife of the Year at the Journal's annual prize-giving event in London.

The final-year student was at home in Witham when her skills were put to the test after a distressed neighbour knocked on her door.

Claire said: "My neighbour Olly told me his wife was bleeding heavily and didn't know what to do. I rushed to their house knowing that Fiona had delivered by emergency caesarean section six days earlier.

"She was lying on the floor in a pool of blood and was still bleeding. Realising the severity of the situation, I calmed her, established delivery information and asked to feel her tummy."

She realised Fiona's uterus was 'atonic' - a condition caused by the muscles failing to contract after birth to restrict blood vessels.

Claire added: "I instinctively knew I needed to stimulate a contraction to stop the bleeding or the blood loss could be fatal."

The trainee midwife was able to stop the bleeding after 30 minutes. Around 10 minutes later an ambulance arrived to take Fiona to hospital, where medics discovered the new mum had lost over three litres of blood.

"On reflection I realised my actions had helped save Fiona's life," Claire said. "There are occasions when a midwife will be the only healthcare professional available to manage a situation, so it's vital that skills are continuously updated and community midwives do not become unskilled in emergency midwifery."

LIFE-SAVER: Claire French (centre) receives her award from Ben Allen, CEO of BJM publishers Mark Allen group, and awards host Ella Kenion

Ready for take-off, the jam-busting flycycle

ENGINEERS in the Czech Republic have unveiled their latest invention - a bicycle that can fly!

The remotely-controlled bike, which weighs 95kg, can hover a few metres above ground for five minutes.

The inventors demonstrated their prototype flying machine to journalists by placing a dummy in the saddle and successfully flying it around an exhibition hall in Prague for a few minutes.

The bike is powered by two battery-run propellers on the front, two on the back and one on each side.

The problem at the moment is that the batteries only allow for a few minutes of flight before they need to be recharged. However, it may not be too long before it can stay airborne for longer.

"Because the capacity of batteries doubles about every 10 years we can expect that in the future the capacity would be enough for the bike to be used for sports, tourism or similar things," said Milan Duchek, technical director of the company that made the bike.

So in a few years time a flying bike might just be the thing you need to avoid the traffic jams on your way to work!

HEALTHCHECK

in partnership with Princess Alexandra Hospital NHS Trust

Fundraisers helping PAH to invest in the latest equipment

THE Intensive Therapy Unit - often known as intensive care - at Princess Alexandra Hospital is considered one of the best in the region, treating around 650 people each year.

A team of highly trained doctors and nurses care for patients with the most severe and life-threatening illnesses and injuries. Common conditions treated within ITU include trauma, multiple organ failure and sepsis.

The unit can care for seven patients at a time. The hospital also has a High Dependency Unit which assists people who are at risk of their condition deteriorating.

However, the hospital and its staff are always keen to improve services and that's why staff have such commitment and drive to raise additional funds for the unit.

Those additional funds are vital to bring in more high-tech equipment to the hospital. A lot of staff and members of the public raise money for PAH, whether it is by doing bicycle rides, bungee jumping or running marathons and a lot of the fundraising goes to improving the ITU department.

So far staff, patients, their families and the local community have helped to raise £119,000 for the ITU. Some of the money has been used to buy a £30,000 echocardiogram machine which has just been delivered.

The vital piece of equipment, which uses ultrasound technology, will help diagnose patients and will be used to assess their cardiovascular system. The machine's versatility will also allow assessment of other organs such as the lungs and intra-abdominal organs.

This year staff are aiming to raise £20,000 to purchase advanced rehabilitation/exercise equipment for the ITU. This will aid patients' recovery.

Any money raised goes to a fantastic cause and makes a real difference to the patients who have to have intensive care.

If you would like to find out more about fundraising and how you can help or support further charity events please contact fundraising@pah.nhs.uk.

Council offices a target for union's blacklisting demo

BIANCA CASTRO

bianca.castro@hertsexnews.co.uk

UNION members staged a demonstration outside Harlow Civic Centre on Thursday in a protest over the alleged 'blacklisting' of workers.

The demo organised by Unite centered around claims that Bam Ferrovial Kier (BFK) - a network of companies of which Kier Harlow is part - has blacklisted a number of its employees.

One of those taking part was Frank Morris (38), of Enfield, who said he had been blacklisted by Crossrail, also part of BFK.

"I am an electrician and have been for 18 years," he said. "I've worked on major projects like the Olympics and at Wembley Stadium and I was blacklisted after standing up for a co-worker."

"I have a young family and this has destroyed my life. I wasn't even aware I had been blacklisted but after applying for 200 different jobs and having no success I started to suspect something more sinister. When I looked into it I found out I had been blacklisted."

He added: "This isn't a union issue, it's a human rights issue and something needs to be done."

Unite spokesman Erkan Ersoy said: "Kier Harlow and the rest of the BFK companies will tell us that blacklisting no longer exists but Frank is living proof that it does and it ruins lives."

"What we are hoping to achieve with these protests is a tri-party meeting between Harlow Council, Unite and Kier Harlow. We want Harlow Council to take a stand against blacklisting by banning companies like Kier Harlow from all public tenders for contracts."

A spokesman for Kier Harlow said: "The activities of the now disbanded Consulting Association are both historic and clearly regrettable."

"Kier co-operated fully with the investigation by the Information Commissioner's Office in 2009 when no action was taken. Kier does not condone any form of blacklisting."

Rod Truan, deputy leader of Harlow Council and cabinet portfolio holder for housing, said: "Kier Harlow and Harlow Council have an excellent relationship with the unions."

"The local unions were fully involved in the formation of the joint venture company and the contract extension in 2011, and continue to play a vital role today along with the council in the company's activities."

"The council has discussed the blacklisting of workers with Kier Harlow and it is satisfied that Kier does not condone any form of blacklisting, it is, however, fully supportive of the campaign to ensure blacklisting does not occur and will work with all parties to ensure this outcome."

Watch groups attempting to boost numbers

A SERIES of events across Essex are being planned to mark national Neighbourhood Watch week, which began on Saturday.

Members and co-ordinators of the county's network of groups will be highlighting their work and attempting to sign up more recruits.

Alan Johnson, from Neighbourhood Watch in Essex, said: "There are several hundred groups with over 7,000 volunteer co-ordinators covering around a third of the properties in the county. We aim to help reduce crime, encourage a neighbourly spirit and to make communities feel safer."

"Neighbourhood Watch provides a great opportunity for people to get involved in their communities which widens the existing channels of communication with police and our local neighbourhood teams."

Assistant Chief Constable Maurice Mason said: "I am keen to see an increase in the number of people involved with Neighbourhood Watch, integrating them into wider communities and utilising their wide range of skills in appropriate crime reduction activities."

"Neighbourhood Watch Week is an opportunity for these dedicated volunteers to illustrate what they do, and in turn attract other community members to get involved."

Awards shine a spotlight on best of town's youth

MARK HALL SCHOOL

THE achievements of more than 40 Harlow youngsters have been celebrated at a glittering presentation ceremony.

The occasion was the annual Jack Petchey Achievement Awards and the winners, all aged 11-25, were nominated by their peers and leaders for a variety of achievements but mostly for doing their best.

They all received medallions to go with framed certificates and cheques for £200 which they had already received.

During the event, six Leader Awards were also presented to adults who have demonstrated, in an outstanding way, an ability to motivate young people. They received a medallion and a framed certificate.

The awards scheme provides funding of £13,000 each year to schools in Harlow.

Among those attending last Wednesday's ceremony at The Playhouse was Harlow Council chairman Linda Pailing, who said: "This has been a really inspiring evening. Harlow has had a bad name but this evening has totally blown that out of the water!"

Chief Inspector Justin Smith, who helped present awards, said: "Young people often get a bad rap and in my line of work I often get to see this.

"However, it is great to be part of a night that celebrates the vast majority of our young people who are doing good things in our community. It has been an inspiring evening and Harlow really does have talent!"

Entertainment was provided by students from Passmores Academy, Sharon Chapuka from St Mark's School, Elliot Shallcross from Harlow Fields School & College and Hannah Kizilcan from Stewards Academy.

The Jack Petchey Foundation was established in 1999 to recognise the positive contributions young people make to society and to support them in achieving their potential. To date it has invested £85m to a wide range of 2,000 youth initiatives across London and Essex.

Mr Petchey, who will be 88 next month, said: "I am passionate about our awards scheme which enables young people to be recognised, valued and rewarded for their achievements and positive contributions to society."

Bunker project aims to show gallery potential

AN ambitious new art installation incorporating full-scale reconstructions of World War II bunkers takes centre stage at The Gibberd Gallery for the next three months.

The brainchild of artist Nick Turvey, All Alone Together aims to subvert the perception of the air-raid shelter as a claustrophobic defensive structure and redefine the gallery as a place of "meeting and action".

It consists of three small constructions based on designs for air-raid shelters used in the Second World War, with an accompanying display of Turvey's recent prints.

From today (Thursday), each of the structures will be used as "micro-theatres", available for use by community groups, musicians, choirs, artists, scouts, prayer groups and even as a location for council meetings.

The artist told the Star: "I'm interested in objects as a way of activating social space rather than just something to look at."

"They are like micro-theatres for encounter, creating an opportunity to invert their original meaning."

Free to attend, the exhibition runs until August 23, with an open day this Saturday from 11am-2pm featuring live theatre from Livewire and a talk from artist Nick Turvey.

Roll up, roll up for the family circus

bianca.castro@hertsessexnews.co.uk

A NEW circus has pitched up in Harlow Town Park - and its owners and star double-act hope it can reignite audiences' interest in the "greatest show on Earth."

Kriss Freear and Paul Carpenter - better known as clowns Kakehole and Popol - both ran away from home to join different circuses before forming their award-winning joint act. Now the pair have put their combined wealth of experience into setting up Circus Wonderland, which will be appearing in the town park from Wednesday.

Kriss, who plays Kakehole, said: "Our biggest problems used to be aiming a custard pie in the right direction or not losing our rubber chicken. Now we are worrying about paying the wages, losing our ground deposits with the mud and generally how to get people in through the door.

"We believe a good clown act should be like a cartoon come to life. We make lots of mess with eggs and water flying about and we are joined by our mascot character Bertie the Bear, who is a great favourite with the kids."

As well as the antics of Kakehole and Popol, Kriss has booked in a host of internationally-renowned circus acts including Duo Stefaneli, who fly into the Big Top in a glittering spaceship, and Miss Klaudia, who can perch at the top of a 20ft pole balanced on her husband's head.

"The circus is special because with such a mix of acts, there is something for everybody," Kriss added. "The kids like the clowns and puppets, there are glamorous ladies for the dads and the mums enjoy seeing our trapeze star Alejandro flying about wearing very little in the way of a costume!"

"In spite of all the hard work involved, we all love what we do and believe that the circus is still the greatest show on earth."

•Tickets for Circus Wonderland cost £12 for adults (£10 children) or £7 on the first day. For further information, contact the box office on 07531 612240 or visit www.circuswonderland.co.uk.

Present Laughter
Global Productions
Playhouse Studio

WHEN ageing Iothario Garry Essendine, an actor long past middle age, comes to the aid of young women it leads to trouble.

Essendine (Richard Hollis, pictured below) provides more than just a bed for the night to female friends claiming to have 'lost their latchkeys'.

Giggly, gushy, adoring fan Daphne Stillington (Jennifer Dorian), is infatuated by Essendine whom she met the night before. Clad in his pyjamas and dressing gown the deliciously dizzy blonde, vows to take care of him forever - albeit he can't remember her name.

Essendine's staff put up with his acting both on an off-stage: Fred, the valet - played to perfection by Keith Cummings; his secretary Monica, a great character piece by Christine Hollis; plus the extremely grumpy housekeeper Miss Erikson. June Gray's portrayal of Erikson together with her deadpan delivery of dialogue gave the best performance of the night.

The young, idealistic would-be playwright Roland Maule, (Lee Ocsko) had the audience in stitches when squinting through black framed spectacles he launched himself at Essendine, claiming that traditional theatre has had its day and must make way for deep, meaningful, psychological drama. His ensuing bear hug of Essendine was one of the comedy highlights of the play.

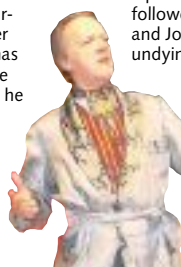

When family friend Joanna Lyppiatt (Suzanne Macpherson), claims to have lost her latchkey then reveals she has been in love with Essendine for years and seduces him, he shows her all the sincerity of a politician.

Liz Essendine, Garry Essendine's patiently enduring wife, loves him but prefers to live in a flat alone. Surprised to learn he slept with Joanne, the husband of a good friend, Liz decides to deal with his womanising once and for all.

It was at this point the quick-witted Noel Coward comedy swiftly developed into a bedroom farce when on the eve of Essendine's planned trip to Africa his staff abandon him, leaving the bewildered bon vivant to answer the constantly ringing doorbell.

The mayhem intensified with Joanna's husband, Henry (Chris Millington), and her lover, Morris Dixon (Adam Elms), arriving, marching about the stage like a pair of broad-shouldered gangsters, followed by Lady Saltburn (Rose Floyd) and Joanna, who both declared their undying love for Essendine.

By the time Liz re-appeared, the louche Iothario couldn't wait to leave the chaos behind, realising that a relatively quiet life with just the one woman might not be so bad after all!

GARDENING & PUZZLES

Blasting away at the blackspot

AS if aphids, vine weevil and lily beetle aren't trouble enough for us all at this time of year, when your roses show signs of blackspot you may wonder if it's time to throw in the towel.

While blackspot used to be a disease confined to the south of England, now it's all over the UK, causing defoliation and stunted growth to roses nationwide.

This unsightly fungal disease is hard to eradicate as it lurks over winter on fallen leaves and diseased stems, spreading on to healthy new leaves as spring returns.

There are many blackspot sprays on the market, claiming to provide a protective barrier which kills fungal spores on the leaves as they germinate. A recent trial by Which? Gardening, the Consumers' Association magazine, put eight such products to the test between April and October last year.

The products were tested on 'Silver Jubilee' roses as they are a modern variety, more resistant to blackspot than older varieties and more typical of the roses you might buy today. The roses were planted at a site known to carry the blackspot fungus and by June blackspot had appeared on the plants, at which point treatment was started, following the instructions supplied, while a number of bushes were left untreated.

by Hannah Stephenson

The trial found that any chemical-based product was better than nothing and that they all slowed the progress of the disease to a similar degree.

While none of the products completely stopped the disease, testers recommend Bayer Garden Systhane Fungus Fighter Concentrate (£5.99 for 300ml, makes 15 litres); Scotts Fungus Clear Ultra (£6.99 for 225ml, makes 15 litres); and Bayer Garden Multirose 2 Ready-to-use (£5.75 for 1 litre).

However, trials found that the organic product which was tested, Vitax Organic 2-in-1 Pest and Disease Control ready-to-use spray, comprising a blend of sesame oil and fish oils, didn't make any difference to the roses and blackspot took hold of them in the same way as the untreated plants.

You will have to be persistent with spraying to keep the barrier on the leaves in place, and spray early, as the leaf buds burst if the blackspot was present the previous year.

If you don't want to go down the chemical route, there are other ways of controlling blackspot.

Pick off affected leaves and burn fallen leaves, and give plants a high potash feed, as potash deficiency may make blackspot worse.

Buy disease-resistant varieties such as the gallicas and albas and modern shrub roses like the rugosas. Good resistance to disease is also found among newer varieties of English and Modern bush roses. Good choices include Rosa gallica 'Versicolor', with its semi-double, pink flowers striped crimson, Rosa alba 'Konigin von Danemark', which produces glowing pink blooms, and the wonderfully fragrant English rose 'Gertrude Jekyll', which bears beautiful rich pink flowers.

If you keep your plants well fed and in the right place – preferably in a sunny spot with good drainage – they'll be less susceptible to disease. Remember, roses are hungry feeders so you would do well to apply a thick mulch of well-rotted organic matter and ensure good air circulation.

When watering, water the soil, not the leaves, and prune in spring to remove infected stems.

■ The full report is in the June issue of Which? Gardening. Sign up to Which? for a one-month trial for £1, with access to all its product reviews, test scores and Best Buy or Don't Buy ratings. For more information, visit www.which.co.uk/signup

Apocalyptic thriller pits Brad against zombies

WORLD WAR Z (3D & 2D)
certificate 15, 1h56m

IF poisonous word of mouth could slay a picture before it has even screened, World War Z would be as lifeless as the hordes of computer-generated undead that cram every frame of Marc Forster's ill-fated film.

Brad Pitt's post-apocalyptic zombie action horror has been plagued by rumours of on-set traumas and was delayed by six months to allow filmmakers to completely rewrite and reshoot the final showdown.

Gerry Lane (Pitt) is a retired United Nations investigator who devotes his time to his wife Karin (Mireille Enos) and daughters Constance (Sterling Jerins) and Rachel (Abigail Hargrove). During a drive through Philadelphia the Lanes witness the spread of a disease which transforms men, women and children into merciless predators.

Gerry's old boss at the UN, Thierry Umotoni (Fana Mokoena), guarantees Karin, Constance and Rachel passage on an aircraft carrier if Gerry will agree to travel behind enemy lines to discover the source of the outbreak.

The search moves from a military base in South Korea to Jerusalem and finally to a World Health Organisation compound in Wales where Gerry and an Israeli soldier (Daniella Kertesz) join four doctors - (Peter Capaldi, Pierfrancesco Favino, Ruth Negga, Moritz Bleibtreu) - in the frantic race against time for a cure.

World War Z boasts a cracking opening 60 minutes directed at breakneck speed by Forster, who captures the pandemonium as the infected swarm like rabid animals. The dramatic momentum slows noticeably in the rewritten final act that feels out of kilter with the rest of the film but does at least permit close-ups of the infected.

Pitt maintains beatific calm in the eye of a pyrotechnic-laden storm which sacrifices scenes with Karin and the girls in favour of thrills and spills - though not blood spills. Indeed, there is a conspicuous lack of gore to ensure the film achieves a 15 certificate.

DIRECTOR Ric Roman Waugh's action thriller is inspired by real events about a father who risks his life to help police prosecute the men responsible for leaving his son facing a 10-year prison sentence for possession of drugs. Construction firm worker John Matthews (Dwayne Johnson) receives a panicked telephone call from his ex-wife Sylvie, who tells him their son Jason (Rafi Gavron) has been arrested in possession of enough pills to earn him a decade behind bars.

US attorney Joanne Keeghan (Susan Sarandon), who hopes to be re-elected on an anti-drugs platform, is sympathetic to John's pleas for leniency but is unmoved. In desperation, John proposes that he will go undercover to bring down a drugs cartel, aided by Agent Cooper (Barry Pepper) and his covert task force.

Thanks to an ex-con (Jon Bernthal) on the construction firm's payroll, John makes a connection to local dealer Malik (Michael K Williams), who in turn leads to Juan Carlos Pintera (Benjamin Bratt) aka El Topo.

The chance to bring down El Topo is irresistible to Keeghan, who sanctions the undercover operation but makes clear that Jason's freedom depends on bringing down the entire supply chain.

Snitch casts Johnson in his familiar role as a gung-ho hero who is sketched in broad strokes so we understand his desire to risk everything for the sake of his boy.

Sarandon and Pepper are wasted in two-dimensional roles but chew scenery when required, while Waugh competently orchestrates the action sequences including a confusing finale that descends into an explosive bloodbath.

MAN OF STEEL When planet Krypton faces destruction, Jor-El (Russell Crowe) sends his son to Earth in the hope the child will be spared. The infant is adopted and raised by farmers Jonathan and Martha Kent (Kevin Costner, Diane Lane), who christen the boy Clark and raise him as their own flesh and blood. From an early age, Clark (Cooper Timberline and Dylan Sprayberry) realises he is different from the other children and when a school bus is involved in a terrible accident he uses his untapped powers to save his classmates. Years later the arrival on Earth of war-mongering Kryptonian General Zod (Michael Shannon) forces Clark to reveal his heroic alter ego but men in power are terrified by Superman's abilities and view him as the enemy rather than mankind's potential saviour.

AFTER EARTH In the distant future Earth is a devastated wasteland, uninhabited by humans who have relocated to a new planet which is also home to an alien race called the Skrel, which views the interlopers as vermin. The Skrel unleash hideously deformed creatures which track humans by the scent of fear pheromones. One man, General Cypher Raige (Will Smith) from the Ranger Corps, learns to overcome his fear through a phenomenon called ghosting which allows him to walk among the Ursa undetected, slaughtering the killing machines without mercy. Cypher's son Kitai (Jaden Smith) trains to become a member of The Ranger Corps but his application is rejected, so Cypher's wife Faia (Sophie Okonedo) implores her husband to bond with Kitai during a final mission before retirement. A freak asteroid storm badly damages their spaceship which crashes on Earth. With his father critically ill, Kitai must retrieve a rescue beacon and alert HQ to their dire predicament.

BEHIND THE CANDELABRA Scott Thorson (Matt Damon) meets choreographer Bob Black (Scott Bakula) who takes him to Las Vegas to enjoy a performance by master showman Liberace (Michael Douglas). At Bob's insistence, Scott abandons rural Wisconsin for the bright lights of the big city, where he is taken under Liberace's wing and encouraged to explore his sexuality. The relationship deepens and Liberace incorporates Scott into his act as an on-stage chauffeur and assistant. Bizarrely, the pianist pays plastic surgeon Dr Jack Startz (Rob Lowe) vast sums to mould his lover into a younger version of himself, but the pressures of fame weigh heavily on Scott and the relationship soon flounders.

Naturally, MK thinks her father has lost his grip on sanity until she is magically shrunk into this fantastical realm of valiant warriors and talking flora. When a rival army led by evil Mandrake (Christopher Waltz) attempts to take over the forest and destroy the Leaf Men, MK joins the fight against the onslaught.

Tracey Waples Property Editor

THERE always seems to be plenty of advice available when it comes to buying a property, but if you're thinking of renting, it is equally important to take the time to look into the market and see what will suit your lifestyle best.

Don't simply take the first place you come across or can afford simply because you think you may not be there for a long time.

For example, if you are only there during the week, a small place might suffice. If you have a car then a parking space is a must. Do you want furnished or unfurnished accommodation or would something that's just part-furnished suit your needs? Often it doesn't make much difference to the rent.

If it's furnished and you are sharing with others, do you trust them to look after the furniture? You may lose some or all of your deposit to pay for damage even if they are responsible for it.

Other key questions are things such as laundry facilities. Is there anywhere to dry your clothes? Are all the appliances you need in the property? Is there a garden? Can you take your pet? Are you prepared to share with someone else - if so, could you share with a live-in landlord?

It can be difficult to find good property to rent.

If you are prepared to share, you may be lucky and know someone who is looking for a flatmate. If your workplace has an intranet site, find out if it has a section that lists properties for rent.

Many colleges have an accommodation office so if you are a student, find out what yours has to offer.

You could even qualify for a council or housing association property if you have sufficient points, are on the waiting list or have a specific need.

Stress-Free Completion

One of the frustrations with the system of property transfer in this country is that moving day invariably coincides with the formal completion of a sale.

Usually, the buyer cannot move out, and the seller cannot move in until such time as the completion monies have been received by the seller s bank, or in most cases, their solicitor s client account. A delay to any link in a chain will have a knock-on effect which can mean that buyers are waiting with a removal truck full of their worldly possessions outside their new home, with no right to enter it.

Such delays can be caused by any number of reasons - even as apparently insignificant as a solicitor in another part of the country being out to lunch. If confirmation is not received until late afternoon, there may not be enough time for the removers to unload before they have to go home! They may not be able to return the following day as they might already be booked on another job!

So why not arrange to move out a day or two before completion and move in a couple of days afterwards? This can considerably de-stress the situation, and has the benefit of giving you time to clean the property you are leaving for the next people, and do any bits and pieces on your new home before your furniture moves in. Perfect if you are re-carpeting or want to do some minor redecoration. And the cost of staying somewhere locally is relatively insignificant in the context of the whole move.

A critical component of this idea is to use a removal company which will pack into pallet boxes (usually about three to a pantechnicon) which can be stored in their warehouse and then delivered to your door a few days later.

Aaaaah! That s better!

STRUGGLING WITH YOUR LETTING AGENT?

Within the last few months we have seen two Lettings businesses disappear from the High Street, with some landlords and tenants now facing financial ruin.

Centurion is one of the very few Harlow based ARLA registered Lettings Agents.

If you or your family have been caught up in the closure of these businesses and need some guidance please be free to call me, I might be able to help.

BY IAIN DOOLEY

If you've had cause to travel around Europe lately you might have spotted something sporting a different badge on the roads.

Dacia products have become a popular sight in recent years, especially in France, for two very good reasons - affordability and durability.

Low cost motoring is all the rage on the continent. Unlike in the UK, our foreign friends aren't such hardened badge snobs meaning cars such as Dacia's Duster have been welcomed with open arms by cost-conscious motorists.

Simply put, when you can get a compact SUV capable of plugging mud with the best Land Rover can offer for less than the price of a Fiesta, somehow the badge on the bonnet is the least of your worries.

If Dacia is a mystery to you, you're not alone. Snapped up by Renault some time ago, critics thought the French firm was taking a huge risk with this budget maker of uninspiring cars.

The passing of time has proven the naysayers wrong, as Renault's input has led to a portfolio of value-driven, dependable, stylish and capable products from superminis to the aforementioned Duster.

Lifestyle SUVs are two-a-penny these days but few are that cheap anymore. Most are increasingly car-like in their appearance and on-road performance.

The Duster retains a chunky-looking, purposeful exterior of a traditional 4x4 but with enough curves to help it slice through the air with relative ease.

The emphasis might be on modest performance and equipment levels but there's nothing cheap about the Duster. Low power petrol and diesel engines are offered (1.6-litre, 105bhp petrol and 1.5-litre, 110bhp diesel), plus the choice of front or four-wheel drive.

The switchable all-wheel drive system allows a driver to choose between front-drive, an auto-sensing mode and a locked 4x4 setting.

Factor in three trim levels and there's little else you might want. Well, apart from air-con, a stereo and alloy wheels. Yes, this is how Dacia can price the Duster so low.

If you want these creature comforts, you're going to have to pick the middle specification for some tunes and the highest spec model if you want manual air conditioning and alloys. Still, even if you opt for the flagship Duster, you're not even close to high-spec Skoda Yeti money.

Despite the popularity of Skoda's compact lifestyle SUV, not everyone wants plush upholstery and highly polished cabin trim in a car that's destined to be a rough-and-tumble family holdall or workhorse utility vehicle. And in this respect, the Duster trumps its well-established rivals.

The car's interior looks and feels tough thanks to sensible trim and material choices, although it retains an easy-on-the-eye appearance.

Familiar Renault switchgear rounds off the driver-centric side of things, while the Duster's cabin is a good size and easily capable of accommodating a growing family.

Move rearwards and the car's boot is equally capacious and the ability to fold the rear seats for extra load capacity is a detail that won't be lost on active families.

By now only someone spoilt by satnav and climate control could find fault with the Duster. In Dacia's defence, it's all about knowing your audience and, so far, the firm has pretty much nailed it.

On the move, there's a similar feeling of accomplishment. While neither engine is bursting with excess horsepower, brisk progress is possible.

Predictably, all-wheel drive variants grip and go with ease on a variety of surfaces, but if the Duster is scheduled for only light duties there's no shame in opting for a two-wheel drive variant.

In the real world it steers and stops just as well, and with the age of the high-rise hatchback truly upon us, there's much to be said for a lofty driving position and speed bump-skimming ground clearance.

By taking a common sense, low frills approach to motoring, Dacia has won many friends and satisfied owners in mainland Europe.

The firm's Duster is proof that, even in the fashion-led world of lifestyle SUVs, you can succeed if all the elements - looks, ability, affordability, practicality - add up.

Scrap

End of the road for your vehicle?

Responsible drivers scrap their vehicles at an Authorised Treatment Facility (ATF).

Because only an ATF can legally scrap a vehicle. That means any pollutants will be made safe before it's recycled in an environmentally friendly way.

What's more, for certain types of vehicle you'll get a DVLA approved Certificate of Destruction (CoD). A CoD proves that the ATF has told DVLA your vehicle has been scrapped and so is no longer your responsibility. www.direct.gov.uk/motoring

GREAT SHOWING: Harlow Jujitsu Club celebrate their success

Great support helps club to medal haul

HARLOW Jujitsu Club enjoyed great success at their latest competition in Southend.

The club took a team of 14 juniors and two seniors, which was their largest team to date.

Once again they came home having had great success with three silver and two bronze medals.

Their first medalist in the junior section was Emily Vulliamy, who went through six rounds to take silver in green/blue random attacks.

Dean Gambino grabbed a bronze in random attack after five rounds, while Loui Shipwright took a bronze in ground fighting and silver in continuous fighting.

Among the seniors, Guy Middleton claimed a silver in weapons kata.

It was also one of the club's best supported competitions with over 40 friends and family supporting them.

Town host champs in twenty/20 game

TWENTY/20 lovers will get a treat tonight (Thursday) if they go and see Harlow Town host current Essex League champions Wanstead and Snarebrook in a Dukes Essex T20 Essex group match.

The match starts at 6pm and it should be a cracking one.

Town spokesman Jason Gladwin said: "These T20 matches usually last around two and a half hours and our licensed bar will be open during the match and afterwards."

"Please feel free to pop in and see the amazing new facilities that the local business community have helped fund and enjoy some spectacular cricket."

It is all still to play for after Harlow Town's sixth match of their Shepherd Neame Essex League campaign against Westcliff-on-Sea was ended by rain.

Town are fifth but are just six points behind the second promotion spot after Saturday's clash was ruined by the elements.

Westcliff81-2
Harlow Tndid not bat
Match abandoned, rain
Shepherd Neame Essex League division three

Only 22 overs were bowled after Harlow had won the toss and asked Westcliff to bat.

During that time they scored 81-2 before the rain curtailed play.

Daniel Farmer picked up both wickets.

He had Peter Barnes stumped by Patrick Yates for 11.

Farmer later had Adam Sinclair caught by Yates for 40.

The weather also intervened in other Town fixtures on Saturday.

In division three of the 2nd XI league, Harlow Town batted first and were bowled out for 155 at Belhus II.

This was despite an opening stand of 86 between Darryl Pettengell and Jason Gladwin before the former went for 67.

Gladwin followed for 23 and Bilal Ali made 25 but the rest of the batting collapsed.

In reply, Belhus had reached 4-0 before rain ended the game.

In division three of the 3rd XI League, Town's game against Westcliff-on-Sea was abandoned after 22.5 overs.

Westcliff had scored 75-3 and Daniel Gleeson (2-15) was Town's most successful bowler.

There was a little more action for Town's fourth team when they played away at Ilford IV in division two of the 4th XI League.

Westcliff scored 170-4 before rain halted play and Paul Smith (3-43) was Harlow's most successful bowler. Before the rain intervened there was good batting from Max Poulter (77 not out) and Kieran Gleeson (76) for Harlow V (202-2) in their game against Belhus V.

Other result:- Herts & Essex Cricket League div three: Braughing 84-1 v Potter Street and Church Langley (DNB) match abandoned, rain.

Gabriella reigns in Sunningdale rain

HARLOW golfer Gabriella Cowley defied the terrible conditions to finish three-under par at Sunningdale to win the Critchley Salver by a shot.

Torrential rain reduced the event from 36 holes to 18.

"It was horrendous, it rained from start to finish and it was freezing as well," said Gabriella, who scored a three under par 71.

The player, attached to Bocket Hall Golf Club near Hertford, made a speedy start and was three-under after four holes.

She had two more birdies and a pair of bogeys in the remainder of the round and won by a shot from Jo Hodge.

"It's a lovely one to win and Sunningdale is my favourite course, to even go there is a pleasure," added the England international.

She missed only two greens during the round and took advantage of her accuracy with good putting.

Rye House skipper 'fired up' by woes

SPEEDWAY

RYE House skipper Jason Bunyan says that all the trials and tribulations at the club will only make the team stronger and more determined to win.

"I hate losing as an individual or team, hopefully this bad start will put some fire and aggression in the boys," said the 34-year-old.

Rockets have had a miserable campaign so far, losing the services of Bunyan for over a month following a crash in the Easter Monday League Cup match against Ipswich.

He suffered four broken ribs, a punctured lung and several fractured vertebrae in a horrific pile up.

Bunyan, pictured in action above, had only just got back into the swing of things during the home meeting against Plymouth Devils a fortnight ago when he smashed into the safety fence and bruised his hip – watching the rest of the action from what he termed "the injured riders' grandstand."

However, the Milton Keynes-born rider put a brave face on the adversity tweeting after his fall: "I'll be fine in a day or two, I can only get beat up so much in one night, run over then met the fans on bend 2!"

Rockets misfortunes were compounded first with loss of the talented Jason Garrity in mid May to a broken leg just as he was running into some brilliant form.

Hatfield based Robert Mear came in on a temporary loan deal with Elite League Lakeside as an injury replacement, but to add to Rockets' woes, he decided to quit the sport last week.

That was just a few days after Rockets number one, Olly Allen, broke his forearm in a fall during the narrow 46-44 Premier League defeat at Hoddesdon.

Mear made three appearances in his brief stint with the Rockets, scoring 7+1 against Plymouth, 3 at Somerset and a further 7+1 against the Devils.

"We're obviously disappointed," said Sampford, "but Robert has made his decision and we have to respect that."

"We wish him all the best for the future, and as a team we just have to re-group again and move forward from here."

Rockets face Ipswich away (tonight) and host Newcastle Diamonds on Saturday (7pm start) in two crucial Premier League matches.

Abbotsweld beat Pear Tree in final thriller

ABBOTSWELD won the first ever kwik cricket festival for students in Years 8 and 9.

More than 90 children aged from seven to nine competed at Harlow Town Cricket Club.

In the final, Pear Tree Mead batted first and set Abbotsweld an achievable 228 (all schools start on 200) to win.

Abbotsweld went about chasing down the total in style and ended up with a massive 262 runs to take the final and the inaugural trophy back to their school.

The tournament was played in glorious sunshine.

All players spent the morning receiving cricket coaching from club experts before a series of inter school matches took place.

There were 10 teams in total representing seven different primary schools (Abbotsweld, Church Langley, Holy Cross, Latton Green, Pear Tree Mead, Roydon and St Luke's).

The teams were split into two groups of five and all played four matches with the winning team in each group taking part in a final.

Abbotsweld were undefeated in their group and stormed into the final but the second group finished with three teams on equal points and Pear Tree Mead ended up going through due to a better head to head result.

George Gardiner, Harlow Schools Sport Partnership Manager said: "It was great to everyone enjoying playing cricket and learning about the game together and it was particularly nice given the younger ages of the children involved today that it went so well."

"Everyone who has taken part in today deserves a massive thank you for making the day such a success."

HOWZAT: The successful Abbotsweld team

Newhall was home to town's first golf course

CANONS Brook Golf Club reached its 50th anniversary milestone last month, but did you know there was a golf club in Harlow before the picturesque Elizabeth Way course was built in 1963?

The original Harlow Golf Club was founded in 1898.

The first course was laid at Kennel Common, the home of the Essex Hunt, and was thought to be located between Gilden Way and what is now the Newhall housing estate.

It was described by estate agents in the 1920s as a golf links course.

From near Gilden Way, the course was later moved over to Harlow Common, close to where the motorway now is and near to the junction with Mill Lane.

Several members of the renowned Gibbey family, famous locally for their wine and spirits empire, were early members of the Harlow club.

Newman Gilbey was honorary treasurer and went on to become one of the founding members at a neighbouring club, Bishop's Stortford.

A club spokesman said: "Sadly the Harlow Golf Club did not last too long, folding in the 1930s. A wooden pavilion which was the clubhouse, still remains standing within the grounds of Hogg's Farm."

"Some names remain from that era; a house alongside the nearby pub, The Horn & Horseshoes, is still known as The Links."

The town went 30 years without a golf club before Canons Brook was built.

One of the world's most famous players at the time, Sir Henry Cotton, was invited to design the course on the edge of the Pinnacles industrial estate.

He instigated an American concept which did away with areas of rough, to enable players to get around the course quicker.

The Harlow Development Corporation constructed and sponsored the project.

The Harlow and District Sports Trust then accepted a long lease and handed over the running to the club itself.

The club's first ever president, Derrick Moule, said when the course was officially opened for the first time: "For me this is a dream come true. Ever since the first tentative discussions with Henry Cotton some years ago about the possibility of developing a new golf course in Harlow, I have looked forward to the day when it would officially be opened. Now the great day is here."

Today, Canons Brook has a thriving membership.

Former club captain Alan Howick said: "To look around the golf course, club house and the general environment that surrounds our club, there is no doubt, Canons Brook is both one of the best and most scenic courses in this area and regarded one of the best certainly, in the county."

"A few golfers have been known to turn their nose up because it's Harlow. There is a little snobbishness in this game which is a shame. Canons Brook Golf Course is challenges that suits all levels of golfers and try and find the views elsewhere that we enjoy over neighbouring countryside and the non repetitive course layout. It's a tribute to our club and our course designer, the late Sir Henry Cotton."

"Canons Brook is a people's club, we're open to everyone who enjoys the game or those who want to give it a try. We enjoy a terrific cross section in our membership and the enjoyment by non members is apparent looking at the high numbers of casual visitors who call in every day for a game along with the full list of societies who return year in, year out."

Canons Brook has held a series of events to commemorate its anniversary, including the pro-am which takes place on Friday June 28.

The club had a fantastic response to the appeal in the Star for teams to come forward and play in this event.

Some 64 teams will compete on the day.

Harlow captain Heskett praises Perry good job

LUKE Heskett and his Harlow side were left frustrated by the weather on Saturday.

The action at Marigolds was curtailed with opponents Woodford Wells finishing on 75-2 after barely 25 overs of action prior to rain stopping play, but earlier, while there was a break in play, Heskett, pictured left, spoke to the Star about the success of the club's second team, captained by John Perry.

Perry also scored 81 for Harlow in the Shepherd Neame Essex League Cup side as the club reached the quarter-finals 11 days ago.

They visit premier division side Buckhurst Hill for a place in the semi-finals a week on Sunday.

"This is the furthest we have ever got in this competition," explained Heskett. "It's been a good run. We are very capable of winning that game with a good performance. We have as good a chance as anybody."

The seconds, meanwhile, top their 2nd XI division two table with 106 points after being undefeated so far this campaign.

They have won five of their six games, suffering one abandonment.

"John's been doing a fantastic job with the seconds. It's a young side and they are playing really, really well. I make them favourites to go up in their league."

Heskett added: "The threes and fours are also in the top half after good starts."

"We have also started a fifth team this season and this just shows the depth at the club."

The first team are away to Ardleigh Green in the league on Saturday. "Hopefully we will get better weather," added Heskett.

Coach warns Osagie ahead of Euro test

Harlow runner cannot underestimate rivals

ANDREW Osagie's coach Craig Winrow is not underestimating the challenge facing his star pupil when the Harlow favourite makes his debut at the European Team Championships for Great Britain on Sunday.

Osagie, 25, was the European No.1 800metre runner last year and is hotly-tipped to grab a medal at the prestigious event in Gateshead.

Winrow, though, admits the main focus of Osagie, of Northbrooks, is representing GB at the World Championships in Moscow this August.

"These are just the stepping stones before the World Championships. This is a little test for him. It's just part of the process," Winrow explained.

"Andrew is going in the right direction. We are looking forward to the weekend. He has got just as good a chance as anybody to get a medal."

"Most of the top Europeans are running quite well. It's fully loaded from that perspective. It's a good test for him."

Belarus, France, Germany, Greece, Italy, Norway, Poland, Russia, Spain, Ukraine and Turkey are the other teams taking part in the European Championships.

Only one 800m runner from each country will be represented. The call-up is a huge boost to Harlow Athletic Club member Osagie.

Osagie had started to show the sort of form which secured his place in the final of the 800m at the London Olympics when he shattered his personal best time. It's a different story from February when he was left out of the GB team for the European Indoor Championships in Sweden.

He was snubbed by head coach Charles van Comenee then, but the Dutchman left and at present there is no overall head of UK Athletics.

Osagie's inclusion comes at the exclusion of in-form GB rival Michael Rimmer.

Winrow said: "Michael beat him in the first race [of the season] but Andrew has been a lot more consistent in the Diamond League and so he got the nod for this race."

Osagie was second in New York in the Diamond League behind world record holder David Rudisha last month.

But Winrow warned: "Just because Rudisha is not there does not mean it's going to be an easy thing. Andrew was the European No.1 last year and he needs to stay there."

Former Burnt Mill School student Osagie will join top GB athletes and Olympic champions including Mo Farah, Greg Rutherford, London silver medallist Christine Ohuruogu and bronze medallist Robbie Grabarz as part of a strong GB & NI team hoping to take international honours in front of a capacity home crowd at Gateshead International Stadium.

Also named in the team is the reigning world 400m hurdles champion Dai Greene.

Outgoing British Athletics Head Coach Peter Eriksson said: "In selecting the team we prioritised athletes who would give us the best possible chance to win this prestigious competition whilst competing in front of an enthusiastic home crowd."

Rockets forced into changes

THERE has been another enforced change in Rye House Rockets' line-up for their Premier League fixture at Ipswich tonight (Thursday).

The Rockets had originally named Scunthorpe's Josh Auty as their cover for injured number one Olly Allen for their trip to East Anglia, but he is unavailable due to a fixture clash.

Aussie Josh Grajczonek, who rides for Somerset, has been drafted in by Rockets. He is ranked number eight nationally in the latest weekly averages, and scored 11 when his parent club Somerset last visited Foxhall Heath in May.

Two weeks later, he totalled 9+1 from five rides at the same venue in the opening test match between Great Britain and Australia.

Rockets manager John Sampford said: "Ipswich are a very good side but we will go there in a positive frame of mind."

"It will be a hard match, just as it will be this Saturday when we entertain Newcastle, but we are determined to turn our league season around after our recent results against Somerset and Plymouth."

Having seen last Saturday's planned guest spot at Rye House washed away with the rain, newly announced World Cup squad member Auty will finally get his chance with Rockets against Newcastle (7pm).

A tough match lies ahead, as demonstrated by their opponents' fine record these last two years.

The Tynesiders finished top of the regular season table last term, with a subsequent play-off exit compensated for by success in the Knockout Cup, while this year sees them aiming to fly even higher.

As things stand, they are gunning for silverware in two of the three team competitions, and have only just been edged out of the third.

Although held to a home draw in the League by Ipswich, they beat the Witches in Suffolk and also won at Berwick. Earlier on, they topped the League Cup's Northern group.
